

Report Ogilvie, Daley State Income Tax Agreement

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Prospects for passage of a three per cent state income tax remained up in the air today despite a reported agreement between Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago to produce the necessary votes.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington, admitted after a lengthy GOP caucus Friday, "we're in a mess."

With the Senate and House in recess until Monday, when the last two weeks of the legislative session will begin, some high level private talks were expected over the weekend.

Republican leaders conceded that although they had a top-heavy majority, Ogilvie's income tax bill couldn't get out of the Senate without some Democratic votes.

Supply Votes

Sen. Thomas A. McGlooin, Democratic minority leader of Chicago, said he had talked to Daley earlier Friday but parried questions whether his side would supply the votes to put over the income tax.

McGlooin found himself facing the position of doing an about face if he backed the governor's tax program. Thursday, he took up two hours of debate in opposing the Ogilvie tax bill as being extravagant and unneeded.

Downstate Democrats and Chicago Negro legislators were unhappy with the program associated with passage of 3 per cent income tax. Downstaters objected to the political burden of voting for the tax and the black legislators said they felt the agreement did not provide enough aid for Chicago schools.

Republican senators were reported reluctant to vote for a program which was supposed to have attractions for Democrats and therefore might pass without all of the 20 GOP votes which were reported available for the 3 per cent tax bill Thursday.

The reports of the agreement which circulated through the legislative halls were:

—Democrats would supply the 10 votes needed to pass the 3 per cent rate income tax, applying equally to corporations and individuals.

—Republicans would agree to reduce the state share of the 5 per cent sales tax from 4 1/4 per cent to 4 per cent and to increase the city share from 3 1/4 per cent to 1 per cent. Next year the city share would go up another quarter per cent and the state share would be reduced quarter per cent.

—The Republican majorities in the House and the Senate would withdraw support from the bills which were drafted to carry out an Ogilvie threat to dismantle the Democratic stronghold in Chicago.

Issues which developed in caucuses were not made public by Arrington or McGlooin.

Improve Schools

However, Sen. Charles Chew Jr., D-Chicago, a Negro, said Black legislators believed a larger share of state income should go to improving Chicago schools. A program of giving aid on the basis of average daily attendance would tend to give Chicago schools more aid.

Sen. William Lyons, D-Gillespi, said he could not support the income tax and win re-election.

He commented on reports he would support the bill if his district obtained a bridge over the Illinois River. He said the only bill regarding the bridge pending was a $350,000 appropriation to purchase a small section of right-of-way.

Lyons said he did not think his chances of remaining in the Senate to enjoy the bridge were good if he voted for the tax.

Some Democrats were reported saying they could not support the tax unless there was a higher rate for corporations than NEWSROOM NOTES — Have you ever wondered what happened to those men who signed the Declaration of Independence?

Five signers were captured by the British as traitors and tortured before they died. Twelve had their homes ransacked and burned. Two lost their sons in the Revolutionary War, another had two sons captured. Nine of the 56 fought and died from wounds or the hardships of the Revolutionary War.

What kind of men were they? Twenty-four were lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and large plantation owners, men of means, well educated. But they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well that the penalty would be death if they were captured.

They signed and they pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

Carter Braxton of Virginia, a wealthy planter and trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts and died in rags.

Thomas McKean was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family almost constantly. He served in the Congress without pay and his family was kept in hiding. His possessions were taken from him and poverty was his reward.

Vandals or soldiers or both, looted the properties of Ellery, Clymer, Hall, Walton, Gwinnett, Hyward, Rutledge and Middleton.

At the Battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson Jr. noted that the British General Cornwallis had taken over the Nelson home for his headquarters. The owner quietly urged Gen. George Washington to open fire, which was done. The home was destroyed and Nelson later died bankrupt.

Francis Lewis had his home and properties destroyed. The enemy jailed his wife and she died within a few months.

John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children fled for their lives. His fields and his grist mill were laid waste and for more than a year he lived in forests and caves, returning home after the war to find his wife dead, his children vanished. A few weeks later he died from exhaustion and a broken heart.

Norris and Livingston suffered similar fates.

Such were the stories and sacrifices of the American Revolution. These were not wild-eyed, rabble-rousing ruffians. They were soft-spoken men of means and education. They had security, but they valued liberty more.

Standing tall, straight and unwavering, they pledged, "For the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of the Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

They gave us an independent America.

Can we keep it? G.E.L.

Death Sentence For Youth

CHICAGO (AP) — A youth convicted of the rape-murder of a 14-year-old girl has been sentenced to die in the electric chair after being denied a motion for a new trial.

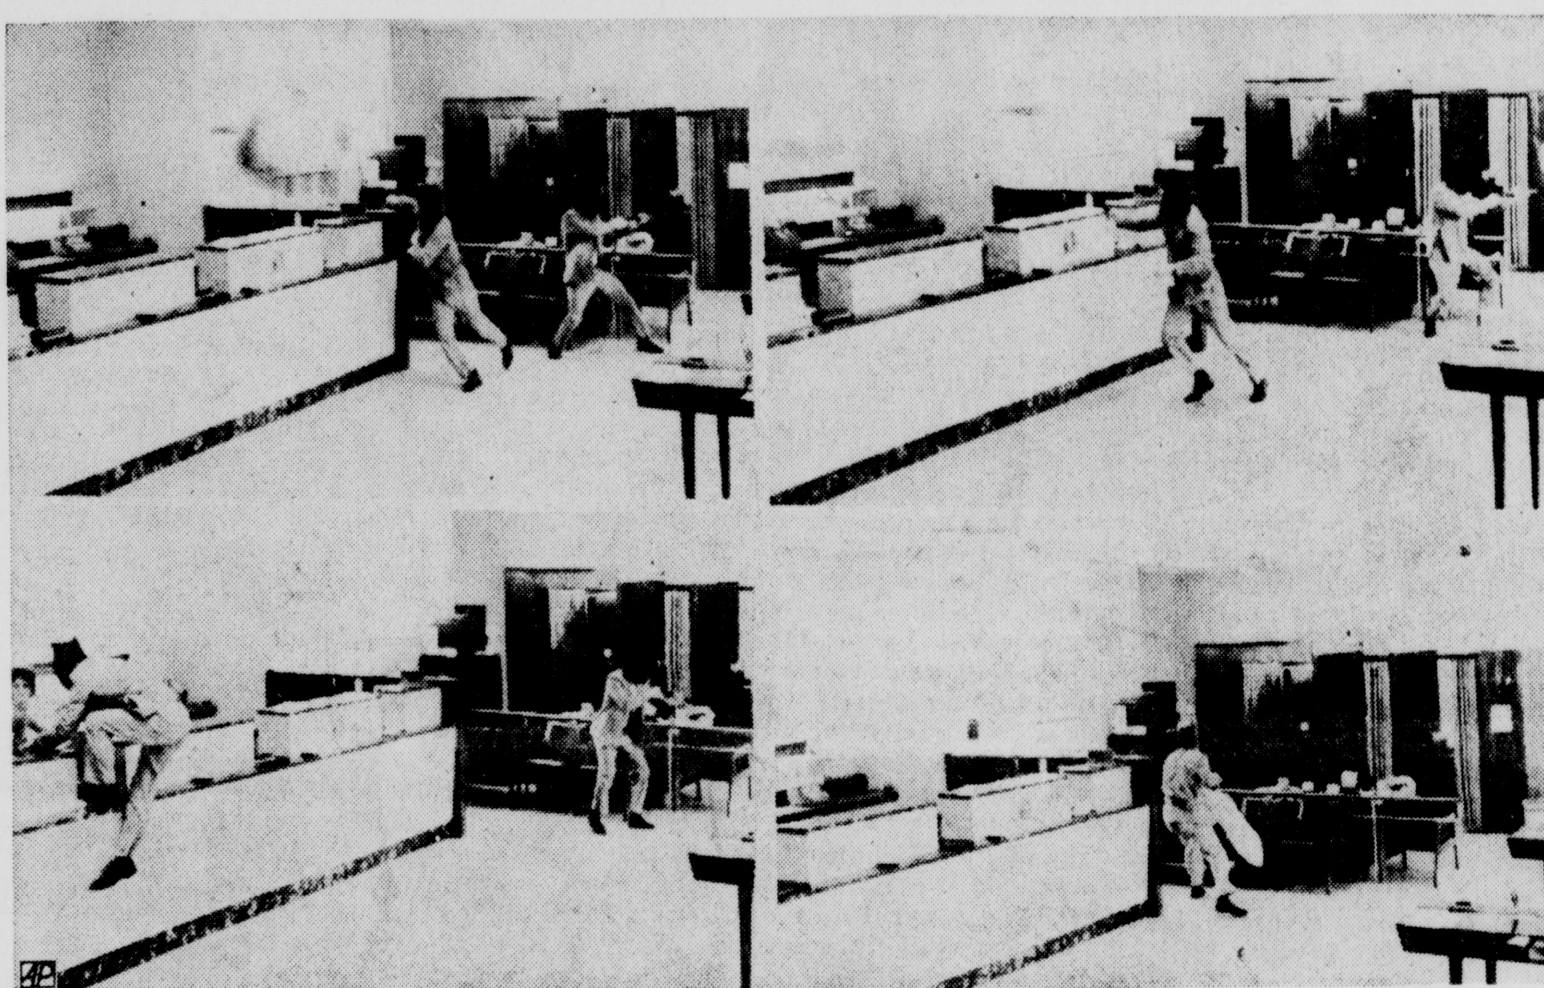

A Circuit Court judge set an Aug. 22 execution date Friday for George Peter Jr., 19.

The execution will presumably be stayed by an automatic appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court.

The body of the girl, Cynthia Lubeznik, was found in the shallow water of a branch of the Chicago River in LaBagh Woods on the Northwest Side in September 1967. Officials said the victim had been beaten and strangled.

Peter was convicted Feb. 5 by a jury that recommended the death penalty, after a five-week trial.

His attorney, James Gramenos, said Peter should have a new trial because jurors had been asked by the prosecution if they would be willing to recommend the death penalty upon conviction. The assistant public defender also charged that the prosecution and police had conspired to suppress evidence.

Hooded Gunmen Rob Bank
Two hooded gunmen, photographed from start to finish in their holdup of a Yeadon, Pa., bank, entered the Philadelphia area bank and held guns on tellers and customers. One vaulted over a counter in front of a woman, and then both left, carrying $33,479 with them. The pictures were made by an automatic camera activated when a silent alarm was tripped.

Dispute Over Nuclear Arms As French Prepare To Vote

PARIS (UPI)—An angry dispute over nuclear arms for Europe erupted today between interim President Alain Poher and Gaullist Foreign Minister Michel Debre on the eve of France's presidential election.

Pohers office issued a statement denying he wants West Germany to get nuclear weapons or has called for a European nuclear force that would give her nuclear arms.

The statement replied to a speech by Debre at Saverne in Alsace Friday night.

12 Indecent Liberties, Rape Charges Dismissed

Twelve counts involving rape and indecent liberties with a minor were dismissed against six Dixon and area youths Friday by the State's Attorney's office.

The six were each indicted on rape and indecent liberties charges on Sept. 24, 1968, by a Lee County Grand Jury. A 15-year-old girl and her father had signed complaints charging the youths with the violations.

Named in the complaints were William Holloman, 18; John Bailey, 20; James Bailey, 17; and Larry Halfacre, 19, all of Dixon; Lawrence Morris, 19, Sterling; and Steve Clark, 18, Rock Falls.

The petition to dismiss charges was filed June 5 and upon motion of Albert Kennedy, state's attorney, was granted Friday by Circuit Judge James E. Bales.

Concerning the dismissals, Kennedy said: "These cases were begun by indictments filed Sept. 24, 1968, prior to my taking office. Thorough investigation has led me to conclude that there is insufficient evidence to establish the charges against the defendants, and that further proceedings would be ineffective and unwarranted. This conclusion is now shared by the complainant and her father, who have recommended that the charges be dismissed."

Name Units Leaving Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that the 1st and 2nd brigades of the 9th Infantry Division and Regimental Landing Team 9 of the 3rd Marine Division are the units to be withdrawn from South Vietnam by the end of August.

It was announced Friday that units from the two divisions would be the first to leave the country, but the specific units had not been identified.

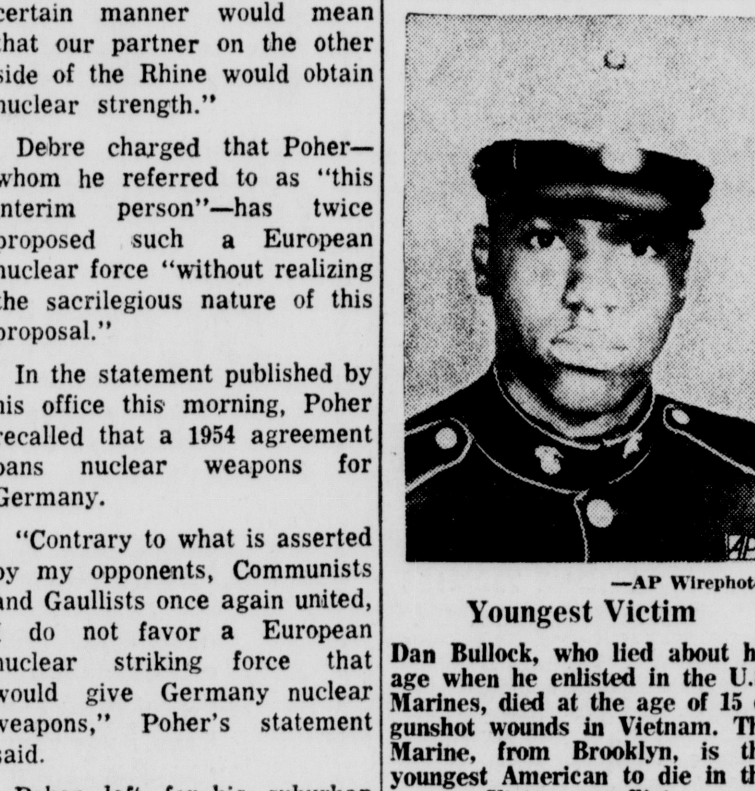

The withdrawal of the two brigades will leave the 9th Division's 3rd Brigade in country. It is based at Tan An, 25 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. The 1st and 2nd Brigades presently are based deeper in the delta.

The Marine Regimental Landing Team is based in the northern part of the country below the demilitarized zone.

Resting

His opponent, Gaullist Georges Pompidou, was resting at his home at Orville, another Paris suburb, where he and his wife are registered voters.

Both candidates planned to return to Paris Sunday evening and to make televised statements after the result of the voting is known.

Youngest Victim
Dan Bullock, who died about his age when he enlisted in the U.S. Marines, died at the age of 15 of gunshot wounds in Vietnam. The Marine, from Brooklyn, is the youngest American to die in the Vietnam conflict.

$100,000 Back Pay Claim to Ohio Woman

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio woman fired 11 years ago during a controversial tangle with the Air Force has won the largest back pay claim ever granted by the U.S. Court of Claims—$100,935.24. Now she wants to go back to work for the government so she can get a pension.

The award went to Dorothy B. Louks, of nearby Medway, who claims she was fired from her Air Force accountant's job Feb. 11, 1958, because she testified in a 1952 Senate investigation.

The Air Force said she was dismissed for refusing to accept a transfer from Wright Patterson Air Force Base here to the Air Force Depot at Memphis, Tenn.

A Justice Department official said, "This was the largest claim for back pay ever granted a government employee."

And Mrs. Louks' attorney in Washington, Thomas M. Gettings Jr., said Friday his client, looking toward future retirement, wants to build up her pension benefits by taking another government job.

The claims court based its order on a settlement reached by attorneys for both sides after ruling that Mrs. Louks was entitled to back pay from the date she was fired to Dec. 31, 1968.

Suspect U.S. Evans Officer of Negligence

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — Lt. (j.g.) Ronald C. Ramsey, the young officer in charge of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans the morning she was cut in two by the Australian carrier Melbourne, was told today he is suspected of negligence.

Ramsey, 24, of Long Beach, Calif., asked the joint U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision in which 74 U.S. soldiers were killed for legal counsel.

His attorney, Lt. Frederick F. Tilton of the Navy's Judge Advocate General's staff, then asked for a recess until Wednesday to evaluate the case.

Egypt Nixes U.S. Peace Proposition

By United Press International
Egypt has turned down U.S. proposals for a Middle East settlement carried to Cairo by a Soviet envoy, diplomatic sources said today. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban charged Egypt and the Soviets with "conspiring together" to obstruct peace.

Eban was commenting on a communique issued in Cairo by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who brought the plan to three days of talks with Nasser.

"Israel will never again agree to put herself in that position of peril and vulnerability" existing before the 1967 war, Eban said.

"Two years later we find the architects of the 1967 war conspiring together to obstruct peace," Eban said.

Area Pilot Killed In Airlift Rescue

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The body of an Illinois Navy pilot was recovered from the Pacific Friday after a helicopter crashed into the sea.

The body of Lt. Richard A. Fitzsimmons, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Fitzsimmons of Marengo, Ill., was one of two recovered. The identity of the other was withheld until relatives could be notified.

Fitzsimmons was piloting the helicopter airlifting a sailor with a broken leg from a carrier at sea to a hospital here. Six men were aboard and all were presumed dead.

Doubts Surtax Action in Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senior Republican on the Senate Finance Committee says it is highly doubtful Congress can complete action on the 10 per cent surtax extension bill by June 30.

Noting that the House is not expected to pass the bill until late next week at the earliest, Sen. John J. Williams said: "They're not going to be allowing us much time for Senate consideration."

By June 30
The Nixon administration is strongly urging the legislator to get the measure to the White House by midnight June 30, when the current 10 per cent surtax expires.

Williams said a number of matters could delay final action beyond the deadline, which is two weeks from Monday.

The Delaware Republican said it appeared the Senate would have only 10 days for Finance Committee and floor action and for a conference to settle any differences between the two houses.

Williams said he had advised Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy it would be wise for the administration to seek a temporary resolution extending present income tax withholding rates 30 or 60 days beyond June 30 while Congress works out the extension measure.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the Finance chairman, has said he will open hearings on the legislation immediately after the House passes it.

Spokesman

These probably will last two or three days. In addition to Kennedy and other administration witnesses, Long is committed to hear business spokesmen wishing to protest repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit.

The House Ways and Means Committee has decided to repeal the credit which permits companies to subtract from their tax bills up to 7 per cent of their spending on new plants and equipment.

Steel Firm, Bank Back Down

Government Triumphs In Antitrust Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's biggest steel company and second largest bank have decided to abide by the wishes of the government rather than battle civil antitrust suits—one filed and one threatened—by the Justice Department.

Both actions, a suit against U.S. Steel Corp. and a threatened complaint against First National City Corp., chalked up major victories for Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren, architect of the Nixon administration's tough antitrust enforcement policy.

The Justice Department filed an antitrust suit against U.S. Steel—the nation's tenth biggest corporation in terms of sales and eighth largest in assets—alleging the huge firm tried to monopolize sales of steel through reciprocal purchasing arrangements.

Simultaneously, the government announced a settlement under which U.S. Steel agreed to a 10-year ban on any reciprocal arrangements with its customers.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department, by threatening a suit, won its first challenge to the burgeoning movement of banks toward forming one-bank holding companies.

As its first target, the government chose First National City Corp., parent of First National City Bank of New York City. The firm had announced its plans to merge with the Chubb Corp., a British-controlled holding company that runs seven U.S. insurance firms.

Although McLaren did not give the grounds for the pilot court action scheduled for Monday, First National withdrew from the proposed consolidation only two hours after the government disclosed its intentions.

4 Million Children Need Psychiatric Help

There are at least 4,000,000 children in the United States who could benefit from psychiatric treatment, says the American Children's Bureau.

Amazing figure, isn't it, considering that usually one thinks of psychotherapy in terms of adults needing treatment?

But what about the offspring of these adults? And the children of borderline cases?

Parents Ill
Can the child who has one or both parents living the life of an alcoholic be immune from what takes place at home? Of course not. Neither can the child who has one or more parents who are promiscuous, who have suicidal tendencies, undergo bouts of anxiety or violence, or otherwise suffer from emotional illness. Although children are very resilient, and have great "bounce-back" reserves, still a child cannot live in his own happy island while his mother or father, and possibly both, are mentally ill.

Four million children. And there are only some 600 certified child psychiatrists in the entire United States.

Even though the number of trained professional people will increase, it will not in the foreseeable future come close to the number required to offer even token services to disturbed youngsters.

Parents who are concerned with "status" are extremely reluctant to admit that their youngsters are emotionally disturbed, and frequently will go to any length to avoid referring their children to psychiatrists. This is more likely to occur in smaller towns, where it is more difficult to hide the fact that a child is undergoing psychiatric treatment.

There is a paradox that children of parents in the lower socio-economic brackets are more likely to get psychiatric help, and to get help earlier, than children from the more well-situated homes. This is difficult to prove statistically, but it is the experience of many people involved with youngsters in churches, schools, courts and clinics, according to Dr. Paul W. Toussing, child psychiatrist with the Menninger Foundation.

With so many children needing psychiatric care and too few psychiatrists to minister to their needs, child guidance clinics have been established in many sections of the country to help meet this problem. These clinics have long waiting lists, but at least they help alleviate the problem.

Difficult Task

The child psychiatrist and his team have a difficult task to perform for and with the child. There are many knotted threads for the psychotherapist to untangle. The child's problem may involve his parents, grandparents and the rest of the family; not only may the child and his family be in conflict with themselves and between themselves, but the anxieties and concerns may have roots outside the family, in society in general. This the psychiatrist tries to perceive and by drawing upon his experience and training, try to untangle those knotted threads so that society will be richer for having an emotionally stable child.

With limited facilities for so many children who need care, what can we do? We can support, as much as we can, our local child-guidance centers, schools for exceptional children, and all other agencies striving to help the emotionally ill child.

The Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE, M.D.
CASE K-524: Emma T., aged 18, asks a good question.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am a college freshman."

"And I also attend church every Sunday, for I have never missed a service for over eight years and I don't like to break my record."

"But our clergyman really inspires his congregation."

"So I often feel as if I wish I were a missionary to some foreign land where I could work seven days per week, helping unfortunate folks."

"But I never get to harness my idealism, for I must get back to the dormitory and keep up with my college lessons."

"So what do you recommend?"

Emotional Binge

Dr. William James, pioneer American psychologist at Harvard, described this situation facing Emma.

For Dr. James said many of us are worked up to a high emotional peak at the climax of an uplifting sermon or play or concert.

But if we merely revel in those exhilarating emotions too long, we indulge in an emotional binge and thus exhaust our motivation.

So he urged us to harness our idealism quickly, which is Emma's desire.

But how can you be a daily salesman of goodwill and Christian charity, though tied down to your workaday routine?

Well, join the League of the Golden Pen!

There is no elaborate initiation, nor any dues.

All that is required to become an active member is that you send a brief letter of praise or sympathy once per week to somebody not on your regular mailing list.

Thus, the words that flow from your pen will be golden in their social effect; hence, the name "League of the Golden Pen."

You college students, plus semi-invalids and busy housewives, can easily take out five minutes to drop a few lines of sympathy or praise to a former teacher who may have influenced you to keep on in school instead of dropping out.

Or write to an old person in a Nursing Home, including your own relatives or even strangers.

Commend your overworked church treasurer of the choir song leader, or a teen-age soloist.

Drop a note of condolence to the parents of a young person who died in the war or in an auto crash.

Commend the mayor or traffic policeman.

Or drop a birthday greeting to an orphan in your local county Children's Home.

VILLA PARK — Hugh Jeanguenat, 71, died Friday in Villa Park Hospital.

He was born July 12, 1896, the son of Henry S. and Ada Jane Clark Jeanguenat.

Jeanguenat was preceded in death by a sister and three brothers.

Survivors include four sons, Jim, Villa Park; Howard, Milwaukee, Wis.; Dale, in Navy; Lloyd, Minneapolis, Minn.; 10 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Talmadge (Frances) Daub, Rochelle, and Mrs. Mary Bisbee, Memphis, Tenn.; four brothers, Herbert, Memphis, Tenn.; Henry, Ashton; Joseph, Dixon, and Albert Charles, Aptos, Calif.

Graveside services will be held Monday at 10 a.m. at Chapel Hill Memorial Park, Dixon.

Mrs. Myrtle Rudiger

PRINCETON — Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Rudiger, 86, were held today in the Norberg Funeral Home, Princeton. Mrs. Rudiger passed away Thursday at the Prairie View Nursing Home in Princeton.

She was born on Jan. 25, 1883, the daughter of James and Mary Jane Latta King.

Mrs. Rudiger was preceded in death by her husband, Fred; one daughter, three brothers, and her parents.

She is survived by one son, Gilbert I. of Des Plaines; one grandson; five sisters, Mrs. Rachel Andersen, Walnut; Mrs. Mary Andersen, Princeton; Mrs. Ethel Ward, La Moille; Mrs. Dorothy Polson, Tiskilwa, and Mrs. Esther Baumgartner, Ohio; and three brothers, Height, Sheffield; Russell, Rockford, and William, Eldena.

Record SVC Enrollment For Summer

"We will have a record high summer session enrollment this year," Dr. Sabol, president of Sauk Valley College, announced late Friday.

So far, he said, 575 students have registered and more than 600 are expected.

Last year's total was 467.

Friday was the day for registration but the college will accept late registration from Monday to June 23, Dr. Sabol said.

The summer session will begin on Monday, for the day classes and the night classes will begin on Tuesday.

Speech, philosophy and physical education are the three most popular classes this session.

The physical education courses are in two sections, bowling and tennis. Both are co-educational.

Co-educational physical education is a new concept in athletics at Sauk Valley.

The plan is to present physical education in a way so it will be useful to the student for a lifetime, according to Dr. Sabol, who calls the idea, "carry-over sports."

He said, "We train our minds to be useful and to keep us mentally fit for our lifetime with studies of the humanities and philosophy, so it is just as important to train our bodies for lifetime fitness."

Bowling and tennis this year are "carry-over" sports. By developing knowledge, skill and interest in either or both of these, a student will have a lifetime physical fitness program, the president said.

Page Termed Satisfactory; To Be Transferred

FREEPORT — Dwight Page, 20, is listed in satisfactory condition today in Freeport Memorial Hospital, but hospital officials said he will be transferred to Rockford Memorial Hospital today for further treatment. The three Page children were released from Freeport Memorial Hospital Friday.

Page was injured in a two-car head-on collision June 7 one-half mile south of junction 72 and 26. The accident claimed the life of Page's wife, Angela, and injured the three children.

Martha Hall Home Unit Director Named

CRAIG FRIEDENAUER

Donald R. Allen, executive director of the newly merged Rosecrance Memorial Homes for Children in Rockford, has appointed Craig Friedenauer as unit director of Martha Hall Home for Girls in Dixon. This position has been held by Mrs. Frances Currier, who has resigned to accept a teaching position in Wisconsin.

Friedenauer will be transferred to Dixon from Rosecrance Home after July 7, when he will complete his present duties as a social worker for Rosecrance in Rockford. He has been employed in the Rockford unit since June 1968.

Friedenauer holds a B.S. degree from Wisconsin State University in River Falls. He will be joined in his duties by his wife Betsy, who has been teaching for the past year in the Rockford School system.

Friedenauer will be working under the supervision of Allen and the combined Board of Trustees in the Rosecrance "Total Program for Children."

Since the merger, Allen and Friedenauer have been spending weekends in Dixon making necessary contacts to stimulate more involvement and continued support by the Dixon community in the Martha Hall project.

Martha Hall is an open-setting type of home, and area civic groups are invited to tour the home and have the program explained. Arrangements can be made by calling the director's office.

Rural Dixon Man Charged With OMVI

A rural Dixon man was arrested by Dixon Police for driving while intoxicated following an accident at the intersection of S. Ottawa Ave. and E. Seventh St. Friday evening.

Walter B. Gothard Jr., 32, Moore's Mobil Home Park, was arrested after his auto, which was proceeding west on Seventh Street, swung too wide on a right turn onto Ottawa Avenue and struck a stopped car driven by Judith Kay Stewart, 19, 905 Walnut Ave.

Linda K. Aiken, 21, 303 S. Broadway St., Lanark, was cited by police for following too closely after an accident on the Galena Avenue bridge last night.

Officers said the Aiken auto was southbound, following a car driven by Cleola S. Evans, 55, 1124 N. Brinton Ave. The Evans auto slowed for traffic to the front and was struck in the rear by the Aiken auto, which was unable to stop. There were no injuries.

Telephone Systems Hearing Is June 19

Hearings on the current status of rural telephone systems, held by the Illinois Commerce Commission, will be on June 19 in Belvidere, not July 19 as stated in yesterday's Telegraph.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to everyone for the flowers and cards that I received during my stay at the hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Silva, the nurses and priests.

Dixonite Fined $50 For Reckless Driving

Circuit Court Magistrate Morey C. Pires Friday fined Richard C. Boward, 406 Depot Ave., $50 and costs on charges of reckless driving.

Boward was cited on the charge by Dixon Police, who arrested him on complaint of Mrs. William F. Northrop, Dixon, following an incident at the intersection of E. Third St. and S. Dement Ave.

Herbert Perdue, Chicago, failed to appear before Pires on charges of unlawful possession of weapons and drunkenness, and his bond was ordered forfeited.

Perdue was arrested by Dixon Police June 1 in the Dixon Hotel in a state of intoxication and police found the man carrying a 9½-inch butcher knife in an inside coat pocket.

Pires fined the man $100 and costs on the weapons charges, dismissed the drunkenness charge and ordered bonds on

Dixon Teen-Agers To Serve As 'Buddies' to DSS Blind

Sixteen teen-agers from four Dixon schools will serve as "buddies" to blind mentally retarded youngsters this summer at the Dixon State School. The boy and girl volunteers, all under 16 years old, are students at Madison, St. Mary's, St. Anne's, and the Dixon High School.

Volunteers and buddies will plant and cultivate gardens and take tours outside of the institution to turkey and horse farms, White Pines Deer Park, the fire station and a farm with a variety of domestic animals and equipment.

Volunteers

The volunteers are Liz Bert, Mary Donnellan, Debra Gardner, Joe Green, Kevin Henley, David Herzog, Marsha Luigs, Janelle Miller, William Barnhart, Daniel Brandenburg, Linda Darfler, Patricia Healy, Jill Jones, Tim McGowan, Sandra Willwerth and Mike McConnell.

Because the volunteers are divided into groups of eight, with one group coming to the institution on Mondays and Wednesdays and the others on Tuesday and Thursdays, the blind DSS residents involved in the program will have two buddies each.

The "Buddy Program" was piloted in May 1969, with nine junior volunteers from Dixon and the surrounding area assigned to work closely with DSS blind youngsters. Professional guidance was provided by Wells Mori, supervisor of community services for the visually handicapped, Department of Children and Family Services.

In the six-week program, the students brought to the blind children an opportunity to associate with normal boys and girls, in games, songs, and craft activities, and in an entirely new living program.

Marie Flosi, R.N., director of the program, said that learning in the program is twofold, because the volunteers learn about retardation and blindness. She pointed out that because their vitality affected the residents and staff alike, it was decided that there would be a general enlargement of the program this summer.

According to Mrs. Flosi, "We found last year that responsibility for a blind child appealed to the volunteers and gave them a mature status that most youngsters have difficulty finding at the ages of 12 to 16. They are too old for neighborhood games, and too young to be employed regularly."

The training unit for the blind was begun in September 1967, and initially served 15 severely and profoundly retarded blind persons between 6 and 21 years old. The number has now increased to 22, and the eight residents selected this year for "buddy" companionship are the younger, more-severely retarded, to "prevent further deterioration or severe behavior problems," according to Mrs. Flosi.

Regress

She added that when left to their own devices, DSS blind youngsters would either withdraw into a quiet, "safe" world and regress; or become hyperactive and aggressive in an attempt to make their needs known. Their selection for the blind program, according to the director, was based on the desire to prevent such behavior and to give these youngsters a fuller, more-rewarding life.

Mrs. Flosi stated that the program for the blind is a 24-hour intensive one, including activities and experiences the blind children now lodged in one cottage had not received in the overcrowded areas where they were formerly housed.

"Sensory stimulation is very necessary to a blind child, as he does not have the vision by which normal children generally learn," Mrs. Flosi said. "We try to use interesting noises, textures and smells to teach the various activities and lessons."

"In addition to staff and 'buddies,'" she interjected, "we have five foster grandparents who give the youngsters a feeling of family, which is just as important to the retarded as to the normal child."

Eventually, she said, the program will encompass all the blind residents at the institution, regardless of age, I.Q., or physical description.

"This is the only program functioning 24 hours for the severely-profoundly retarded blind at an institution," Mrs. Flosi declared. "We certainly hope to see more programs developed, as these individuals are an unserved minority at this time, and recognition of their needs should be made known. It is only through this recognition that we will see fuller and more well-developed programs becoming available to them."

Boy on Bicycle Struck by Auto

GRAND DETOUR — Jeffery A. Petersen, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Petersen, is in good condition today in KSB Hospital after being struck by a car being driven by Frank Haas, 56, Polo, about 5:05 p.m. Friday.

The child rode his bicycle across Wisconsin Street into the path of the moving auto, State Police reports indicated.

No tickets were issued. State Police also investigated a three-car accident on Alt. 30 one-half mile east of Dixon at 4:35 p.m. Friday.

Mary E. Hamburg, 39, Harmon, and Sarah Rodriguez, 19, Sterling, had slowed their autos for a slow-moving car in front of them. Another auto, driven by Jose Hernandez, 40, Sterling, approached the slower-moving cars, striking the Rodriguez car in the rear and causing it to strike the Hamburg auto.

Hernandez was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions. Estimated damage to the Hamburg auto was $200; the Rodriguez auto, $1,000, and the Hernandez auto, $200.

NIU Recital Set June 22

ROCKFORD — Organist John S. Monkman will give his Northern Illinois University graduate recital at 2 p.m. June 22 at Rockford College's Fisher Memorial Chapel.

Monkman has been choral director for the Kirkland schools and will join the music department of Kishwaukee College, Malta, in the fall.

The NIU graduate music student's program will open with chorale-preludes by Buxtehude and Pepping, followed by Walter Piston's well-known "Chromatic Study on the Name of Bach."

Admission to Monkman's performance is open to the public without charge.

Rodrick To Direct Summer Band

The Oregon City Council hired a director for the city's summer band program and reappointed members to local boards at their regular Friday night meeting.

Terry K. Rodrick, the new director of instrumental music at Oregon Community High School, will direct the city's summer band training program, which is open to all Oregon youth.

He will receive $100 per week for the three-week program from Aug. 11 to 30, it was announced.

The board reappointed Robert Etnyre to the city zoning board of appeals; E. B. Landers to the city planning commission; Paul Behan to the Oregon recreation board; and Russell Wiles to the Oregon Municipal Coliseum board.

In other action, they passed a resolution approving payment with funds regularly earmarked for the motor fuel tax fund (2-OSCS). It was stipulated that when money is available, the money for the fund will be repaid.

It was also announced that bids for street improvements for Tenth Street will be opened June 27 at 5 p.m., the proposed improvements include bituminous surfacing, curbs, gutters and sidewalks.

Book Battle Over ABM

By RALPH de TOLEDANO

The "battle of the experts" over the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system proposed by President Nixon was sanguinary but one-sided. The experts testifying against the ABM were the leaders of the old scientific establishment, the men who said the H-bomb was — or should be — impossible. The solidest opinion, from Dr. Edward Teller up, down or across the board, took cognizance of the great Soviet investment in anti-ballistic missiles and of developing Soviet ability to deliver a nuclear knockout punch with its multi-warhead SS-9 rockets. This, at least, is how I saw it.

In the debate, moreover, the Senate forces opposed to the ABM had no answer to the simple summation of the pro-ABM forces: If the administration is wrong and we deploy Safeguard, all that is lost is money; if the opponents of ABM are wrong and we do not deploy Safeguard, then the United States faces outright destruction or nuclear blackmail.

Now the "battle of the experts" has abated. In its place, there is the "battle of the books." And here the preponderance of strength seems to be on the anti-ABM side. Contending are "USSR vs. USA, the ABM and the Changed Strategic Military Balance" (pro) and "ABM, An Evaluation" (anti). The pro volume is the product of a special American Security Council committee headed by the Nobel Laureate, Dr. Willard F. Libby; Dr. William Thaler, of Georgetown University; and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The anti book is edited by Abram Chayes, a former State Department lawyer, and Jerome Wiesner, a peripatetic ag'iner and now provost of M.I.T. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology). Among those contributing are such military and scientific experts as former Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, the labor lawyer; Bill Moyers, a one-time press secretary for Lyndon Johnson; Allen S. Whiting, a professor of political science; Hans Bethe, one of those who fought Dr. Teller when the feasibility of the H-bomb was being debated; Adam Yarmolinsky, one of former Def. Sec. McNamara's "whiz kids"; and a congeries of minor scientific, legal, and other academicians.

The difference between the two books, other than their content, is their sponsorship. "USSR vs. USA" was prepared by the modestly financed American Security Council, an organization of distinguished Americans which has turned out major studies of the U.S. and Soviet military postures. "ABM" was put together for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and crash-published by Harper & Row, one of the bigger New York publishing houses. Unlimited funds seem to be available to promote the anti book, with two-page ads running in the Washington Post and other major metropolitan newspapers, an unheard of outlay for any book at any time.

The ad copy for the anti-ABM book, moreover, was so loaded and so inaccurate that the Washington Post took it apart in a lead editorial. For example, the Post noted that the ad, purportedly citing an "AP quote from pro-ABM presentation, May 7, 1969," tried to hang on those favoring Safeguard the statement: "An anti-missile defense is foolproof. It will give us a seamless garment of Security in an age of acute danger."

But what the Associated Press story had said was: "Anti-missile defense is an essential component in the network of military systems designed to give the American people a seamless garment of security in an age of acute danger," which is something considerably different. And, as the Post also notes, the word "foolproof" does not appear in either the original dispatch or the original document, which happens to be the American Security Council study. This doctoring of documents is of a piece with the rest of the Harper & Row ad, which includes a coupon to be mailed in by readers, saying in loud capital letters, "I really believe my family and I will be safe once we proceed with the 'Safeguard' ABM" — "yes" or "no."

This is good Madison Avenue advertising copy, and it should frighten the uninformed and the careless. But neither the President nor Def. Sec. Laird — nor anyone else, for that matter — has stated that the Safeguard system will give us complete safety. It is one more measure in our defensive arsenal. By reducing a crucial debate to the absurdity of "Do you have bad breath?" techniques, the opponents of the "Safeguard" system and Harper & Row cast suspicion on their entire case.

Senator Kennedy's privately financed book can be seen almost everywhere, which bespeaks the investment that went into it. One major columnist has called the anti-ABM drive, of which "ABM" is a part, the most lavishly financed he has ever witnessed. To pay for the small ads it has run for "USSR vs. USA" the American Security Council (1101 Seventeenth St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036) has been asking for contributions from concerned citizens.

And that's how the "battle of the books" is going. John Fisher, president of the American Security Council, has called on Sen. Kennedy to repudiate the Harper & Row ad. (That's part of the battle.) But he's not holding his breath while he waits for an answer.

Teddy Grows Up

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A push that he often speaks in quick fragments which he expects to convey a clear message. Some of this goes back to youthful habits of tangling syntax, partly but not altogether cured. Some just reflects speed. Says a friend:

"HE NOT ONLY TALKS in half sentences, he starts in the middle of them."

On a Sunday morning, comfortably ensconced in his beautiful contemporary home in Virginia beside the Potomac, he wades through the big papers, often to pick up the telephone to an aide and ask:

"What did you think of that piece?"

The man at the other end combs his brain, swiftly trying to guess which item among 400 pages of Sunday newspaper the senator is talking about. If he is lucky, he hears a cue name and is in the clear. If not, the senator may identify it by page number and newspaper, and read it aloud, fully and instructively.

BUT THE STAFF PEOPLE who tell these tales smile as they recall. They appear to love their work, even when it lasts until 6 a.m., as it can. They like to stay "faceless," believing only one face should be out front. They are efficient, somehow, amid the creative chaos of the Kennedy office. They can bone up fast on virtually anything, but they do not see themselves as masters of the issues. Says one:

"Nobody on the staff is an expert on anything. But most of our guys are experts on him."

KENNEDY'S REAL ES- PERTS are the men he invites to his regular dinner-and-evening think-tank sessions at his home, where, as one man put it, "the hollering sometimes goes on until midnight."

The subject for the evening can be anything — Vietnam, the ABM, taxes, campus unrest, urban crises, federal-state relations. Dinner guests are thoughtfully chosen. Kennedy lets them know the bent of his thinking, then tosses it out for the expected counter-assaults. Inevitably, they come.

FROM THIS VERBAL shake-out, and usually a lot of study, comes the Kennedy stance on issues, the ingredients for speechmaking, legislative proposals, programmatic planning. Despite published reports to the contrary, there never has been, however, a distinct "Kennedy program" apart from basic Democratic party context or in clear, point-by-point opposition to the Nixon administration's proposals.

AT DETROIT'S ECONOMIC Club in April, he told businessmen:

Now and then, in the midst of the cheerful gatherings he loves, Kennedy's smile will suddenly fade as his mind slips off into the distance where tragedy has taken him. But his natural buoyancy and energy are too great for this driving young man ever to be gripped by crippling depression as he examines the hard turns of his family's fate.

MOVE ABOUT WITH him a little, in and out of the Senate, and you feel the push. An aide, pausing for breath while Kennedy talks to a Senate colleague, says:

"I have a feeling I'm going to be old before my time."

Caught in a rush-hour traffic jam on Park Avenue en route to his New York apartment before a party fund-raising speech, the senator bounds out of the car to walk the last 12 blocks to his place. A harried helper, dragging a crucial briefcase, hurries after him.

OUT OF THE OFFICE, he works the telephone back to his staff until the hard-pressed laborers in that chaotic vineyard pray for a long flight that will keep him out of range for a few hours.

Riots Hurry Ruin Of Large Cities

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Indications are that the serious big-city riots may have major, long-time economic and sociopolitical effects on whole cities, not on their riot areas alone.

In some — perhaps all — cases, the riots have speeded up long-range trends toward deterioration.

PARTIAL STATISTICS AND some official estimates from some of the cities hit have been revealed in congressional hearings over the past few weeks. They indicate that in the one to two years following major riots:

Business has been hurt throughout the city. Suburbanites are buying less downtown generally, not just in the riot areas. Instead, they are shopping more in the suburbs. This trend existed before the riots. The destruction apparently stepped up the rate.

MIDDLE AND well-to-do income groups are moving out of the cities at a more rapid pace, leaving the metropolises more and more to the poor.

Again officials studying the increase in out-migration, believe it has been caused, at least in part, by the riots.

Businesses, both in and out of the riot areas, are moving, or planning to move, out of the cities in greater numbers. This conclusion has been developed through interviews. In numerous cases merchants gave riots as a principal reason for their move-out plans.

AT THE SAME TIME, probably independently of the riots, crimes against businesses are growing markedly in both the riot areas and in big-city shopping areas generally, intensifying the problems of merchants and the cost of city operations.

The trends could reduce considerably in time the tax base on which the big cities operate, make it more difficult to raise the funds needed for schools, welfare programs, streets, parks, civic development and for police and fire protection.

THESE TRENDS, IF LEFT unchecked, could intensify decay in our major cities.

The slums will get larger, not smaller. The gap will widen between the poor (white, Negro, Mexican-American, Puerto Rican) living in the cities and the suburbanite 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. city worker in air-conditioned buildings in the heart of the business districts.

BLACK BUSINESSES ARE-being started in some of the declining, riot-scarred areas of some cities. But black capitalism alone, however otherwise desirable, will not solve the problems of decay. Black capitalism, like white capitalism, wants to go where business is profitable. Government subsidies may send men into unprofitable areas for a period. But sooner or later practical economics will take over.

Major businesses cannot afford to move into basically high-operating-cost areas, which is what big-city slums are, unless at very low labor costs. And this is obviously just what is not wanted now by the men working to change the slums.

HISTORICALLY, THE POOR in developing capitalist countries — from Japan to the United States — lived on the farms until they could be absorbed by the growth in industry and services.

The farm revolution in the United States, having progressed so rapidly, the poor (white and colored) moved into the big-city slums more quickly than they could be employed and so rapidly that many did not acquire the new work skills needed.

These factors are back of the plans now being studied at the White House and at other places in the administration for developing opportunities outside the major cities at locations where overhead costs are lower and where the poor can be absorbed as people rather than dealt with as numbers.

Soviets Still May Beat U.S. to Moon

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Will the Russians be on the moon to greet us?

At this late date the question seems preposterous. All of the facts say the moon race is over and we've won. Everything indicates that when we land up there next month, the Russians will have to be content to watch it on TV.

YET, AS THE MOON race itself proves, nothing is impossible. And men who study space accomplishments closest are not conceding anything.

One of these men is Dr. Charles Sheldon, a staff member of the House Space Committee, a sometimes White House space adviser and one of the more down-to-earth Russian space-watchers.

DR. SHELDON DOESN'T think the U.S.S.R. will beat us to the moon. He feels that time, good judgment and the odds work against the competitors.

But still, on the other hand

"WELL," SAYS SHELDON, a thin, gray, enthusiastic man, "I suppose the odds of us landing first on the moon are 98 per cent or better. However, I must say this: I think the Russians still have an outside chance."

The Russians' chance, according to Sheldon, is based on their willingness to gamble. Sheldon says their space history shows an aversion to open risk, but for the sake of prestige they might now be willing to try.

WHAT THEY WOULD have to do, Sheldon explains, is make a grand, unannounced, terribly dangerous moon shot without preliminary test flights.

And he adds there are three ways they might do it.

AS OF NOW, the Russians have never displayed a launch vehicle large enough to propel a lunar landing payload (285,000 pounds). Their biggest known rocket is the Proton, a mere infant compared to America's Saturn V.

But there is always the possibility, in this case a real one, that the competitors have a larger rocket ready but unused. American space experts, notably Dr. Werhner von Braun, have broadly hinted as much. Von Braun has suggested that the U.S.S.R. may have a secret launch vehicle with a 10 to 14 million pound thrust capability — almost twice the Saturn V power.

SHELDON SAYS THIS possibility is pregnant. In fact, Sheldon probably knows if the vehicle is real or not. He has access to all U.S. space intelligence, which is classified information.

If such a superrocket does exist in Russia, says Sheldon, Russia might use it to launch an unmanned space ship into earth orbit. Then a Proton Rocket might fire a rendezvous rocket, with inhabitants, to link in space. And a continuing moon trip might follow.

THE SECOND WAY the Russians could beat us to the moon, Sheldon says, is even more risky, even more iffy and even more unlikely than the first.

He says they might use the Proton rocket alone to launch several earth orbits simultaneously. Each shot would contain moon payload components. It would require incredible dexterity, but if all could be linked in orbit, a side trip to the moon might be the result.

THE THIRD and final way the Russians might beat us, says Dr. Sheldon, is perhaps the only really worrisome way. That is: Mechanically.

Says Sheldon: "I suppose it's possible that rather than send men to the moon, they would send robots. Then they could fly up there, without any human risk, pick up moon samples and thereby steal our thunder. And actually it might entirely overshadow our landing in some ways. A complete robot flight would be at least as technically excellent as a human one."

CONCERNING THIS THIRD possibility, Sheldon notes that rumors of a "big" Russian space spectacular have been circulating for days. Also, a Russian cosmonaut has told Japanese officials that the U.S.S.R. would have moon rock samples on display when the Japanese world fair opens early next year.

"You can add these signs up," says Sheldon, "any way you like."

BUT IN SPITE OF the addition and regardless of the possibilities, Dr. Charles Sheldon emphasizes he is not forecasting anything about Russian space efforts. His views are "just for speculation." He feels the competition should not be underestimated — but scoffs at overestimation as well.

Actually, Dr. Sheldon feels the Russians quit the moon race sometime ago when it became apparent they were lagging. His private feeling is, fingers crossed, they won't make a manned moon landing before 1971. And by then, he says, We will definitely be there to greet them.

Never be late for an appointment and you'll spend an awful lot of time waiting for the other party to show.

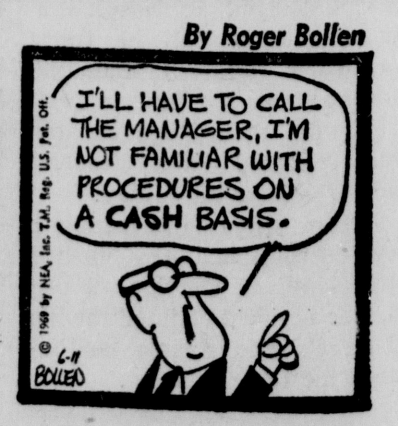

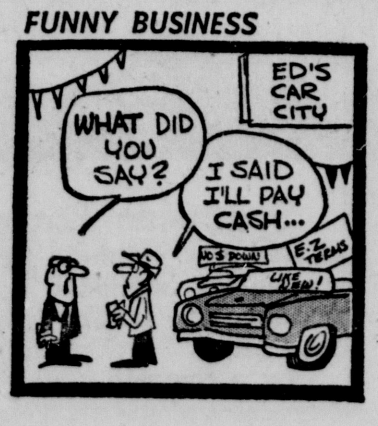

Keep an eye on the boss' job long enough and you'll quite likely become convinced you wouldn't have it at any price.

"Dance, America, Dance" was the title of the annual dance musical presented Saturday night in the Dixon High School auditorium by approximately 300 students of Sharon and Julie Dale and their accompanist, Mrs. Mabel Van Gilder.

The show was dedicated to the dance studio's "graduate," Paula Gawlowski, who appeared in a solo number, and "If My Friends Could See Me Now" was the title of a routine by the students' instructors.

Featured in the show were the "Starlets," a group composed of Miss Gawlowski, Denise Quick, Terry Edwards, Brenda Harden, Becky Batt, Debbie Hintz, Catherine Edwards, Debbie Devine, Joan Michaels, Chris Tayman, Sue Friedrichs, Judi Brainerd, Bette Anne Jeanguenot, Theresa Kerley and Jill Blackburn, who opened the show and appeared in a routine entitled "Go Go Girls."

Phil Huber, Bill Rohr, Scott Smith, David Harvey and Kevin Bohms were featured in "Down in Dixie land," and "Dance Rodeo," "Hawaiian Paradise," "Sleeping Beauty" and "A Birthday Party" were titles of additional dance routines.

Appearing as members of the "Junior Stars" were Susan Devine, Penny Switzer, Lynn Wakeley, Colleen Smith, Rosemary Smith, Diane Quick, Leslie Herzog, Susan Oswald, Debra Disch and Cindy Conderman, and dancers in the "Little Stars" were Carmen Switzer, Linda Craig, Leslie Smith, Valerie Smith, Lisa Gillen, Debra Klamen, Janet Jeanguenot, Laurie Hipple, Lori Woodyatt, Pam Frayser, Barbara Dutch-off, Karla Knack and Karen Knack.

The "Starlets" presented the show finale, "A Salute to George M. Cohan," and it was announced that the Dale Dance Studio, which is affiliated with the Chicago Dance Masters and the Professional Dance Teachers Association, would resume classes next fall.

Plum Hollow Association Golf Awards

Tuesday's activities for members of the Plum Hollow Club Women's Association included 18-hole and nine-hole golf.

Mrs. Marilyn Emmert won the low-score award for 18 holes; Mrs. Carroll Yeast was the low-putts winner, and other prizes went to Miss Nova Kellar and Mrs. William Steimle.

Similar awards for members playing nine holes were won by Mrs. Robert Whitehead, low score; Mrs. Ileen Wilson, low putts, and additional winners were Mrs. John Jacobs and Mrs. Gloria Dunphy.

Regular golf was planned for Tuesday with tee-off time at 1:30 and 4 p.m.

Association members will be guests at Dixon Country Club Wednesday, and are asked to make reservations for the invitational event with Mrs. Yeast, 284-6419, before Monday morning.

South Dixon Unit Elects New Officers

Mrs. Walter Fassler was elected new chairman of the South Dixon Homemakers Extension Unit at the June meeting for 13 members, with Mrs. Glen White.

Also elected were Mrs. Harold J. Wolf, first vice chairman; Mrs. David Henley, second vice chairman, and Mrs. Elmer Ringler Jr., secretary-treasurer.

"Hawaiian Cookery" was the title of a major lesson presentation by Mrs. Henley and Mrs. James O'Brien, and a minor lesson on "New Fabrics and Finishes" was prepared by Mrs. Harold Donnelly.

Unit members will be selling tickets for a performance of the Koshare Indian dancers scheduled for 7 p.m. July 4 in Lancaster Gymnasium as a Dixon Petunia Festival attraction.

Miss Doran Is Shower Honoree

OHIO — Blue and white decorations trimmed the refreshment table arranged for a Sunday afternoon shower in Immaculate Conception Church honoring Miss Colleen Doran, bride-elect of Robert Bockel.

The honoree was assisted at the gift table by Miss Susan Doran, Miss Kathy Carlson, Miss Ann Doran and Mrs. David Willey, and presiding at the refreshment table were Miss Doran's mother, Mrs. Dale Doran, and the prospective bridegroom's mother.

Co-hostesses for the party were Mrs. Florence Krapf, Mrs. Robert Walter, Mrs. Leonard Carlson, Mrs. Edward Anderson, Mrs. Conrad Knuth, Mrs. Edith Cassidy, Mrs. Harold Schneider, Mrs. Vincent Egan, Mrs. Harry Etheridge, Mrs. Gracey Walter, Mrs. John Gugerty, Mrs. Edward Donnelly, Mrs. Everett Johnson, Mrs. Francis Piper, Mrs. Raymond Anderson and Mrs. Barney Keen.

Kersten Reunion

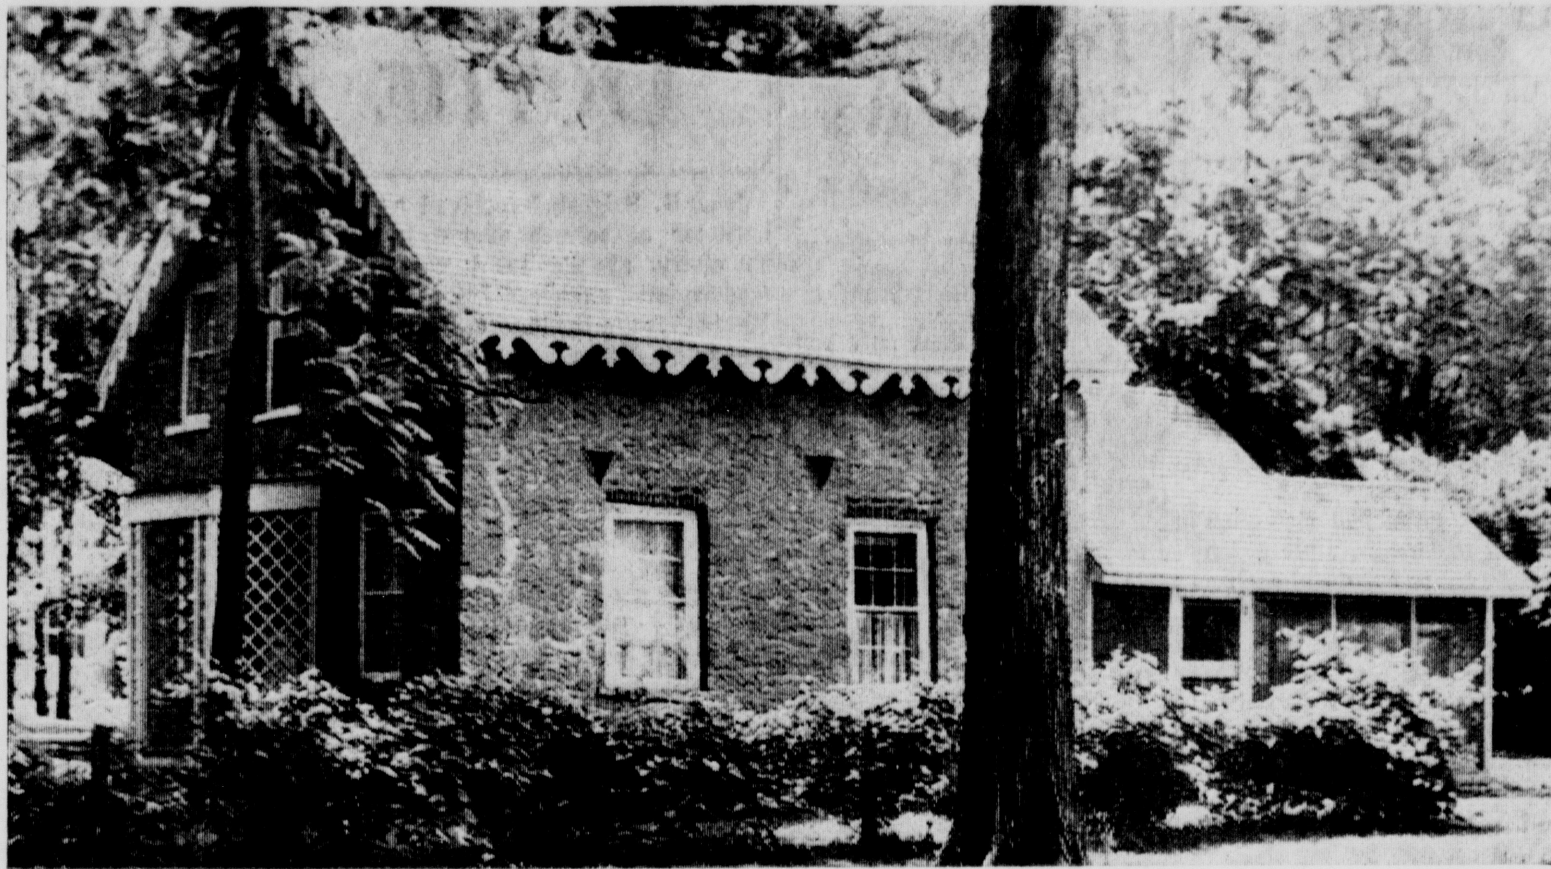

The annual Kersten family reunion is scheduled for June 22 in the social room of the Ashton Bank, and will include a noon picnic dinner.

Ice cream and beverage will be provided, and families attending will furnish additional picnic food and table service.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Photographs which are brought in for use on the society page of The Evening Telegraph will be held for four weeks after date of publication, then will be discarded.

It is not possible to return photos by mail unless an addressed postpaid envelope is enclosed.

1834 Home in Grand Detour

The native stone home of Mrs. John C. Roe, Grand Detour, constructed in 1834 by Z. B. Turner, will be included in the village homes to be opened for a 'Tour of Grand Detour' June 21-22. The tour, sponsored by the women of area Episcopal churches, will also include the 'John Deere Historic Site' and seven additional homes.

Program by Miss Slothower For Wesleyans

An illustrated program on her experiences in Hong Kong was presented by Miss Linda Slothower following Tuesday night's picnic dinner for members of the First United Methodist Church Wesleyan Society in the church dining hall.

The entertainment followed a business session led by the president, Sheldon Bross, and members serving on the evening's committee included Mr. and Mrs. Bross, Lawrence Leydig, Mrs. Francis Geiger, Mrs. L. W. Feik, Mrs. Keith Swarts and Lee Roy Klingman.

Sewing Aid

For seamstresses, there's a new all-bias Pellon developed to solve problems presented by knits and other lightweight fabrics, giving them body and shape-assurance without restricting their mobility or changing their supple characters.

The development marks the first time that an interfacing particularly for knits has been available to home seamstresses, the manufacturer says.

Grand Detour Homes To Be Opened for Tour June 21-22

The native stone home of Mrs. John C. Roe, built by Z. B. Turner in 1834 for $600, will be one of the homes included in the "Tour of Grand Detour" from noon until 5 p.m. June 21 and 22.

Sponsors of the two-day event will be women of area Episcopal churches in Dixon, Rochelle, Oregon-Mount Morris and Sterling.

Mr. Turner was employed by Leonard Andrus, founder of Grand Detour, and constructed a wood addition to the home which was destroyed by fire and never replaced. Mrs. Roe and the late Mr. Roe had the home restored in 1940.

Other Homes

Other historic homes to be open for tour visitors include the F. J. Garner home built in 1850. The home contains Mr. Garner's wood carvings and his interesting map of the village, and an original village street light stands at the home's entrance.

Antiques from the 18th century furnish the Cape Cod home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, and the home of Mrs. H. Etnyre, which commands a scenic view of Rock River, was constructed in 1841 by H. H. Paine, one of the original Grand Detour settlers from Vermont. Interesting additions have been made to the home, which was the site of the Dixon Ferry landing, equipped with a bell to signal the arrival of ferry customers.

The white clapboard home of Mrs. Oliver Rogers has the date of construction, 1840, carved on a basement beam, and the Gordon Bennett home, a former public boathouse, is furnished with attractive antiques and contains interesting paintings done in the 1840s by an unknown artist.

The present dining room and the bedroom above it in the Steven Martin home are said to be the oldest structure in Grand Detour. Additions have been made to the house during intervals of restoration, and it also features antique furnishings. Of particular interest to tour visitors will be Mr. Martin's collection of old wooden printing blocks and a portrait of his great-great-grandfather, L. K. Scroggins, by the artist, L. R. Jacobs, who also painted a portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

Sheffield Hotel

The native stone home of George Crawford, built in 1835, was the original Sheffield Hotel, operated by the Charles Sheffield family as newlyweds. They later built the "wonder structure," the renowned Sheffield House, which was owned by the family of actor Orson Welles when the building burned.

Buildings of the "John Deere Historic Site" will also be open for the public tour, which will benefit St. Peter's Church in Grand Detour, the Grand Detour Cemetery Association and the sponsoring parishes.

The tour fee for adults will be $3.50, and there will be no charge for children under 12 who are accompanied by adults.

Wa-tan-ye Club Dinner-Meeting

Mrs. Roy Wilhelm, 1001 S. Hennepin Ave., will entertain the Wa-tan-ye Service Club at a 7 p.m. dinner-meeting Wednesday, and members unable to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Wilhelm, 288-3493, by Monday night.

Anniversary Open House

LEE — The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sanderson, DeKalb, former residents of rural Lee, was celebrated at a recent open house in Trinity Lutheran Church, DeKalb.

Approximately 300 guests were greeted by the honorees; their children, Mrs. Martin M. Ford, Mrs. Hugh McCorkle and Challa Sanderson, and their son-in-law, Major Ford, an Army chaplain.

An anniversary cake, decorated with yellow rosebuds and topped by miniature figures of a bride and groom, centered the refreshment table, which also held golden tapers in seven-branched candelabras.

The cake was served by Mrs. Challa Sanderson, Mrs. Larry McCorkle and Miss Becki Ford, and presiding at the coffee service and punch bowl were Marybeth and Betsy Ford. Jordan Ford was in charge of the guest book, and a "money tree," a gift from Mrs. Sanderson's sisters, centered the gift table. Photographs of the honored couple, taken during their 50 years of marriage, were displayed on a decorated wall screen.

Following the open house, a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson and their family was served in the church by members of the Dorcas Circle, who were also hostesses for the anniversary reception.

Miss Stanbary Is Engaged to Gail Rothermel

MOUNT MORRIS — The engagement of Miss Marilyn Stanbary to Gail Rothermel, son of the Ivan Rothermels, Mount Morris, is announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brook Stanbary, Hennepin. Miss Stanbary graduated from Hennepin High School, and will graduate this month from Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, and the school of medical technology at Rockford Memorial Hospital where she will be employed.

Mr. Rothermel attended Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind., following his graduation from Mount Morris High School, and is presently employed by the Rockford Post Office.

Oct. 18 has been selected as the date for their marriage.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Mrs. J. L. B. who wants to remove old veneer from furniture. The veneer I removed was buckled in some places and tight in others. I wet an old bedspread and laid it over the veneer to be removed. It was left for several hours but I kept the cloth wet all the time. This loosened the veneer so it was easily lifted off by carefully prying the tight edges with a putty knife. — Mrs. J. B. P.

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. J. L. B. — The best method I have found for removing old veneer from furniture is to start with a commercial paint and varnish remover. Read the directions carefully before starting. Some require water and a large order of "elbow grease." Others are merely applied, left to soak for a certain time, then cleaned off. If the furniture has elaborate molding, a quick rub with steel wool may be needed on the ornate areas but the old veneer should quickly lift off. It will be a dirty, mucky mess so do it someplace where cleaning up is easy. I find this far superior to scraping even when this is possible. This way there is no chance of scratching the furniture. — MARGARET

DEAR READERS — Some furniture pieces with tight, heavily varnished surfaces may need a combination of the above two methods. Using the varnish remover first would then allow the water to penetrate and loosen the veneer more easily. It might take a long, long time for water to penetrate through the varnish. Be sure to lift off the glue left on the piece itself while it is still soft. Some glue spots may require sanding. I once removed all the old veneer from a badly chipped Victorian footstool, then upholstered the top and covered the frame with blue felt which glued on smooth as silk. — POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I hope some readers can tell me how they get wrinkles out of nylon curtains. — FRIEDA.

DEAR POLLY — Many expectant mothers have a problem with their dress hems protruding to a point at the center front seam. I have solved this by sewing one flat drapey weight into the hem at the center front. This does not cause it to hang unevenly yet holds the hem down. — SHERYL

DEAR POLLY — I have found that iron-on mending tape is the best thing for anchoring the top of inverted kick pleats in skirts or dresses and it is invisible from the top of most fabrics. — MARGUERITE.

North's jump to four spades was one of those scatter-gun bids. He had no idea about his partner's ability to make that contract but he felt sure that if South couldn't bring four spades home, then the hand would belong to East and West.

It turned out that the best East and West could do would be to make three diamonds so that it was up to South to make his four spades.

The contract turned out to be what is described in expert circles as a laydown. In other words, an expert would make the contract every time provided West holds the trump ace.

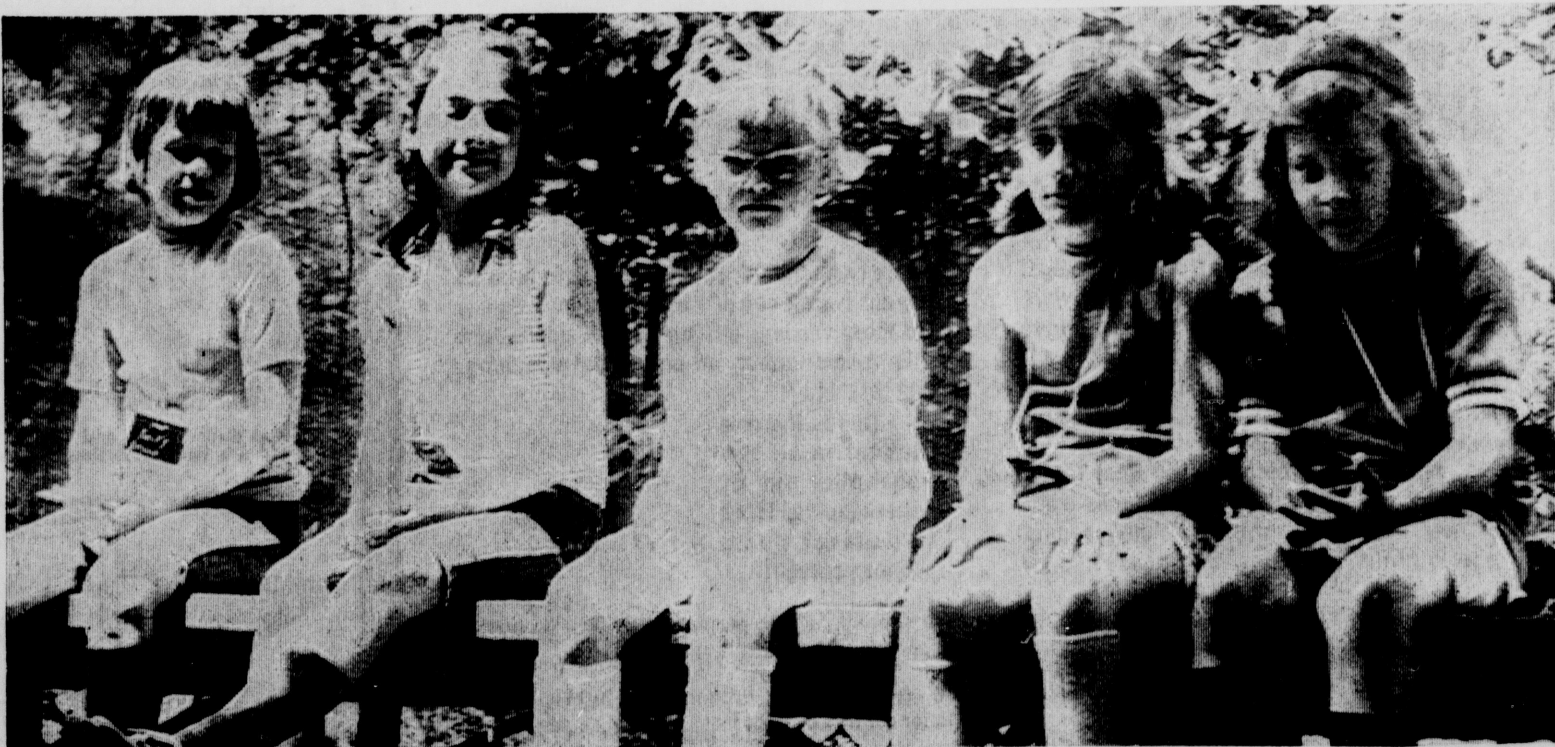

What is laydown to an expert may not be that easy to the average player. So, let's follow the entire play:

Dummy's ace of diamonds wins the first trick. South ruffs a diamond at trick two and leads a trump toward dummy. West goes right up with the ace and leads a trump back. He is not going to break any suits for South.

South cashes the ace, king and queen of hearts, discarding a club from dummy on the queen. His next play is the nine of hearts and when West puts on the jack, South is ready with a loser-on-loser play to insure his contract. He simply discards another club.

West is on lead once more. Another diamond play will allow a third club discard from dummy and a ruff by declarer so the best West can do is to play his ace of clubs. This is the last trick for the defense since the king of clubs is now good and the last three tricks go to dummy's trumps.

LOOKING AROUND

By E. G.

June 14th — Flag Day . . . and did you know . . . the design of our flag was adopted on this day, in 1777 . . . that the Stars and Stripes first went around the world on the ship, Columbia, sailing from Boston in 1787 and returning in 1790 . . . that "under God" was added to the Pledge of Allegiance, June 14th, 1954.

The late Charles Evans Hughes, U.S. jurist and statesman eloquently stated what the Flag meant to him . . . "It is the symbol of national unity, national endeavor and national aspiration . . . it tells of the struggle for independence, of the sacrifices of brave men and women . . . it means America first; an undivided allegiance . . . it speaks of equal rights, of the inspiration of free institutions, of liberty . . . there is not a thread in it but seems self-indulgence, weakness and rapacity . . . it is the symbol of our community interests, outweighing all divergencies of opinion, and of our common destiny."

Happy birthday to . . . Bill Short and Earl Smith, today . . . Roger Lee Cain, Oregon, the 15th . . . Dr. Robert Stitzel, Rockford, the 16th . . . Dr. Gordon McPetridge, the 17th . . . Mrs. Harold Burbank, the 20th.

Contributed by a reader . . . "I need a job," said the man from the senator's home state. The senator thought for a moment then said: "Well, I'll tell you, there aren't any jobs, but here's what I will do. I'll appoint a committee to investigate why there aren't any jobs and you can be the head of that committee with a starting salary of $30,000 a year."

June 17th, 1775, we fought the Battle of Bunker Hill . . . today we battle the bunk on Capitol Hill . . . as of today there are 23 different bills in Congress aimed at "putting a stop to campus disorders" — five congressional committees are conducting or planning to conduct, hearings on student disorders . . . Senator McGovern comes out for dismissing all indictments against those who rioted during last year's Democratic convention in Chicago with the suggestion that "we should do everything we can to advance a climate of tolerance in this country" . . . tolerance for what — rioting, looting, burning, murder, etc.?

Illinois physicians aren't the only ones hitting a rich vein of ore from Medicare . . . the stories of the high cost of Medicare currently running in the Chicago Tribune brings to mind the article that appeared in the February 4th issue of the Palm Beach (Fla.) Post . . . a Department of Health, Education and Welfare study showed "Florida leading the nation with 18 physicians collecting in one year $50,000 or more in Medicare payments" . . . the study was for the year July 1, 1967 — June 30, 1968 and included 47 physicians throughout the country receiving $50,000 or more in Medicare fees . . . a Florida practitioner led the list of 47 with a total payment of $191,000 . . . two other Florida MDs received more than $100,000 . . . the 18 Florida physicians received a total of $1.3 million in Medicare payments.

Wilbur Cohen, who was HEW secretary when Medicare went into effect, was quoted as saying "While over-all consumer prices were increasing 10.3 per cent, doctor's fees were rising 19.4 per cent and that from 1966-68 Medicare paid out $8.3 billion."

Showers of flowers to . . . Betty and Roy Ferris, celebrating their 28th wedding anniversary, today . . . the Herschel Boyds, their 34th, the 15th . . . the Harold Burbanks, their 39th, the 18th.

The Lee County Cancer Society is having a "Dutch Treat Dinner" next Wednesday, June 18, at the Nachusa House Trail Room . . . the time is 7 p.m. . . the tab is $3 per person.

Tomorrow is Dad's Day . . . naturally everyone thinks his Dad is the greatest — and won't you agree that we all feel towards our Dad as Lena K. Emmons, Amboy, so aptly expressed it in a poem published twenty-six years ago in the Telegraph.

"I wish I could be like my Dad . . . he's as good as he can be . . . he never did a naughty thing . . . when he was a boy like me . . . he wiped the dishes every day . . . never teased his sister Sue . . . did all the chores 'fore he went to play . . . kept his toys as good as new . . . He always went to Sunday school . . . and kept his clothes so clean . . . always obeyed the Golden Rule . . . never did a thing that was mean . . . When I am grown and have a boy . . . he's gotta be just like Dad . . . For he is the very best Father . . . that any kid ever had."

Have a nice weekend . . . and by the way, have you heard about the wit who suggested that "the auto makers put DDT in their gas to get rid of all the bugs" . . . not too far off, really — when one reads about the cars being recalled for defective latch mechanisms.

Eleanor Jones, daughter of Mrs. Willard Jones, 204 Ottawa Ave., received a bachelor of science degree in science from Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, on June 7.

Miss Jones plans to teach at Algonquin School, Park Forest, in the fall.

Out-of-town members of the family attending the commencement were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harrison, the Bronx, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Antone Eppolito, Syracuse, N.Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan, Homewood.

—dd—

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hey Jr., Park Forest, are announcing the birth of a son born Thursday in St. James Hospital, Chicago Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hey Sr., Dixon, are the infant's paternal grandparents; and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ward, Syracuse, N.Y.

4 DAYS TO BUILD . . . A LIFETIME OF FAMILY PLEASURE TO ENJOY

Viking Kitchen Carpet is for women who don't believe in kitchen carpet. Because it works. Come in and let us prove it!

Come watch us smear oil over it. Spill grapejuice on it. Scrub it with a stiff wire brush. Put a lighted cigarette out on it. Prove to you that Viking Kitchen Carpet can take all the actions and accidents in the kitchen (and nursery, playroom, basement, dining room!) and come up looking like new.

And Viking is carpet — the Real Thing. Not felt, not pressed fiber, not grass — but carpet! Beautiful, warm, cushiony, sop-up noise, non-skid carpet. Engineered to go where carpet never could before . . . to take all the dirty work out of keeping up your floors. No more waxing, buffing or de-waxing. Just a light vacuuming, an occasional sponging, and that's it!

This is the one that takes all the upkeeping out of housekeeping. Hard to believe? Come see for yourself!

Viking Kitchen Carpet is made of super-dense nylon, woven super tight, and permanently bonded to a thick undercushion of B. F. Goodrich natural sponge (not foam!) rubber.

"Explorer" — a Danish-inspired pattern in black/white; aqua/avocado; amber/gold; brown/russet; cardinal/flame.

By order of Lee Co. Road & Bridge Comm.
RONALD E. BRANDAU,
Co. Supt. Highways
June 14, 20, 1969.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested that the City Council of the City of Dixon, Lee County, Illinois, passed an ordinance entitled "City of Dixon, Local Improvement Ordinance No. 356, Series of 1969", providing for the construction of combination concrete curb and gutter, gravel or crushed stone base course and a bituminous concrete surface course, storm water drainage and all necessary incidental and related work, on East Division Street and Fargo Avenue within the area hereafter described as follows:

East Division Street — Commencing at the East line of Galena Avenue and extending Easterly along East Division Street to the East line of Fargo Avenue with an omission at Hemlock Avenue, 37 feet back to back of curbs.

Fargo Avenue — Commencing at the North line of East Division Street and extending thence Northerly along Fargo Avenue to the South edge of the pavement on Chicago Road, 37 feet back to back of curbs.

all in and adjacent to the City of Dixon, Lee County, Illinois, the ordinance for the said improvement being on file in the office of the City Clerk of the said City of Dixon, Illinois.

Notice is further given that the said City Council, having applied to the Circuit Court Of The Fifteenth Judicial Circuit, Lee County, Illinois, for an assessment of the costs of the improvement, according to benefits, and an assessment thereof having been made and returned to that Court, the final hearing thereon will be had in the Circuit Court Room in the Court House in Dixon, in said Lee County at 10:00 A.M., D.S.T. on the 23rd day of June, 1969, or as soon thereafter as the business of the Court will permit.

All persons desiring may file objections in said Circuit Court in Lee County, Illinois, before that day, and may appear at the time of the hearing and make their defense.

Said Special Assessment is payable in ten annual installments and all installments bear interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum, according to law, until paid.

Dated at Dixon, Illinois, this 5th day of June, 1969.

Edward A.O. Malley
Commissioner

June 7, 14, 1969.

Robinson Leads Orioles Past ChiSox

Beman Credits Lead To Mystery Program

HOUSTON (AP) — Tough, cocky little Deane Beman says a mystery program, not yet complete and 1½ years old, put him in the second round lead in the U.S. Open Golf championship.

The trim, blond former amateur champion won't identify his program, but he says "it's improved my game a great deal."

Asked if he would share his secret if another player asked him, the former insurance broker from Bethesda, Md., replied:

Russell's Retirement Uncertain

BOSTON (AP) — The question of whether Bill Russell is retiring from basketball continued to swirl around Boston today, with the latest reports quoting him as saying he has not made any such definite decision at this time.

General Manager Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics said the team's 6-foot-9 player-coach had telephoned him Friday from the West Coast and told him: "When I'm ready to retire, you'll be the first to know about it."

Auerbach told the Boston Record American that Russell explained he would contact him in person or by telephone when and if he decides to quit.

Russell also was quoted as saying: "When the day comes that I decide to retire, I will write the Celtics organization officially, and I have not done that at this time."

The question arose after the Boston Herald Traveler published a copyrighted story Friday saying Russell was retiring after 13 years in the National Basketball Association to pursue a career in movies and television.

Russell, who reportedly is now in Hollywood in connection with acting ventures, has been unavailable for comment. However, Auerbach told the Associated Press that it was his understanding Russell was holding off any decision on his future for at least a few weeks.

"Russell and I did not discuss the possibility of his retirement at this time," he said. "Our discussion was merely concerned with his future plans in general. I know that he will never announce the end of his brilliant career in the newspapers."

In his 13 playing years with the Celtics, Russell has led them to 11 NBA titles while revolutionizing the game with his great defensive play. He has coached the team for the past three seasons, losing out to Philadelphia in his first year at the helm but leading his club to the title in 1967-68 and again last season.

Deane Beman

"If you mean pick my brains and soul, the answer is no."

The 150 pounder shot a second round 69 Friday for 137, three under par for two trips around the long, steaming, 6,967-yard, par 70 Cypress Creek layout at the Champions Golf Club.

That gave him a one-stroke margin on Bob Murphy, the first round leader who went to a 72, and Miller Barber, 71. They're tied at 138. Bob Rossburg is alone at 139 after 69.

Canadian George Knudson, 70, Al Geiberger, 72 and Charles Coody, 68, are tied at even par, 140.

Big Jack Nicklaus remained in contention with a 67 for 141. Arnold Palmer fell back with a 73 for 143. Gary Player had a 75 for 146. Masters champ George Archer went to 74 for 143 and Julius Boros had a 73 for 144.

Defending champion Lee Trevino, troubled by an injured left knee, blew to a 75 for 149 and missed the cut for the final two rounds. The field of 150 was trimmed to the low 60 scorers and ties, with a score of 148 needed to make it.

Beman, twice a U.S. Amateur champ and once the British Amateur title-holder, is an articulate, intelligent man with a sensible approach to the game.

"This isn't a life or death matter," he said. "If I don't win this time, I will win another time. I am convinced of that."

Will the pressure bother him? "My game will take care of that. I'm not jittery or nervous at all. I'm playing very well and see no reason not to continue to play well."

Three Key Hits Spark Bird Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
This is what Earl Weaver means when he says Frank Robinson does it all for the Baltimore Orioles:

—A sixth-inning single that put the Orioles' first run in scoring position.

—An eighth-inning, two-out single and an alert dash to the plate with the tying run.

—A ninth-inning single with two out and the bases loaded that drove in two insurance runs.

The result of all this action was a 5-2 victory for the Orioles over the Chicago White Sox Friday night.

Twins Lose
In other American League games, Cleveland trimmed Minnesota 6-4, Oakland defeated Boston 4-1, Detroit blanked Kansas City 6-0, Washington knocked off California 6-2 and Seattle edged the New York Yankees 2-1.

"Frank started when the season started," Weaver, the Oriole manager, said Friday night. "He's done everything. He's done it all for us."

Robinson, his eyes finally seeing everything properly after a year of trouble, is batting .322, has hit 14 homers and has driven in 42 runs.

Walks Twice
Robinson walked his first two times at bat against Chicago, but in the sixth he singled Paul Blair to third, from where Blair scored on Boog Powell's single. Then in the eighth, with Baltimore trailing 2-1, Frank singled with two out, and Powell followed with a double. Robinson, however, didn't stop at third. When he saw Walt Williams' throw from the outfield going over the head of relay man Bobby Knoop, he raced for the plate and scored the tying run.

He did it again the next inning when, with two out and the bases loaded, he singled for two more runs.

Killer Homers
Ken Suarez was the big man for Cleveland, triggering a four-run outburst with a homer in the sixth and then driving in the decisive run in the ninth with a single. Harmon Killebrew made it close for Minnesota with a three-run homer in the ninth.

Oakland home runs by Reggie Jackson, his 20th, and pitcher Lew Krause assured Jim Lonborg's first loss after six victories for Boston this year.

Joe Spina blanked Kansas City on four hits while Norm Cash drove in two runs for Detroit with a double and a single. Dick McAuliffe homered for the Tigers.

Frank Howard and Bernie Allen connected for Washington homers, and Roger Repoz hit one for California. But the Senators also scored three runs in the third inning with the help of three infield singles.

Gene Brabender stopped the Yankees on four hits while the Pilots won the game in the eighth on Tommy Harper's run-scoring single off Mel Stottlemyre.

Following Friday night the Rockford Speedway will honor everyone who has excelled in the school term just closed. Any report card from kindergarten through college will automatically admit that person to the Speedway free.

Marichal Tops Ford's Record

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ever since Juan Marichal began pitching for the San Francisco Giants 10 years ago, the chances were that he would win any game he pitched. But never have the percentages been so great in his favor as they are now.

After pitching the Giants to a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Expos Friday night, no pitcher in baseball history can top the right-hander when it comes to winning percentage.

Marichal's six-hitter raised his record this season to 7-2 and his career mark to 177-79, a .691 percentage. He had entered the contest tied with former New York Yankees ace Whitey Ford, who was 236-106 for .690.

Although a loss in his next start would drop him back again, the way the 31-year-old mount master wins games with monotonous regularity, he could quite possibly keep his all-time high percentage by the time he finally leaves the game.

Competition
While the percentages were not the same, Marichal had plenty of competition for pitching honors in the National League Friday night.

Rick Wise turned in a three-hitter in pitching Philadelphia past San Diego 6-1, Alan Foster scattered seven hits as Los Angeles nudged the New York Mets 1-0, Pittsburgh edged Atlanta 2-1, Houston overcame St. Louis 4-2 and, in the only hitler's contest, the Chicago Cubs tumbled Cincinnati 14-8.

Marichal, who turned in a 6-2 record in 11 games with the Giants in 1960, has been a 20-game winner five times since and fashioned such seasons as 25-8, 21-8, 25-6 and 26-9 last season. It looks like another one of those years.

His victory over Montreal was his seventh complete game this season and his only trouble came in the sixth inning when he had a brief lapse of control and walked two. Ron Fairly's hit loaded the bases and two runs scored on a ground out and a sacrifice fly.

In other action, Dixon Telegraph defeated VFW, 17-6, and Hey Brothers were dropped by Local 172, 9-5.

Allowing eight hits while striking out eight, Alan Walker garnered the win, while Joe Diehl and Mickey Trader smacked triples for Telegraph.

Ned Vail smacked a home run in the match between Hey Brothers and Local 172, while four others managed extra-base hits, also. The winners spurred ahead to stay with five runs in the sixth, providing the win for Carlsen.

Two-hitter
Brad Hartie and his brother Jess made it almost a family victory Friday night as their Northwestern License Bronco baseball team blasted the JCs, 11-0, in Bronco League action.

Brad spun a one-hitter over seven innings, allowing only a fourth-inning double by Kirk, and struck out 12 batters. He also went four-for-four at the plate, banging out two triples, while younger brother Jess was two-for-two.

Cubs Win; Kessinger After Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — It's Dandy Don Kessinger now, the one-time good-field no-hit shortstop who has become a factor in the Chicago Cubs' unbelievable drive towards the title in the National League's Eastern Division.

Last amid the flurry of a six-run rally in the 10th inning which sent the Cubs shooting past Cincinnati 14-8 Friday was the fact that Kessinger tied the National League record of 52 consecutive errorless games by a shortstop in one season.

Dandy Don, who slapped out three hits and drove in two runs, was walked intentionally in the big 10th with two out and a man on second. After that the Cubs proceeded to score all six runs and bag their 39th victory against 18 defeats and their third in four games on the current road trip.

In the field, Kessinger tied the league record of 52 errorless games set by John Kerr of the New York Giants from July 28 to Sept. 29 in 1946.

Kessinger, who hasn't committed an error since April 13, needs one more errorless game to tie the major league record of 53 games in one season set by Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox in 1951.

If Kessinger gets by the Carrasquel record, he can then shoot for the overall record of 68 consecutive games in a two-season span set by Kerr who went on into the 1947 season for the alltime record by a shortstop.

The giddy Cubs, who had home run power from Ernie Banks and Billy Williams plus a clutch, two-run single by Ron Santo in the 10th, will send Ken Holtzman (10-1) against Tony Cloninger (3-8) today in the second of the four-game series.

Daredevils At Speedbowl

STERLING — Feature attraction Sunday night at Speedbowl Park will be Ken Carter's Long Bus Jump daredevil from Canada running for the guaranteed events.

On the regular racing program the drivers will be out and running for the guaranteed purse initiated two weeks ago at Speedbowl. The new prize money system includes a $600 prize for the feature winner and coordinate shares through the next nine places.

Speedbowl fans will be able to see the regular race program and the three daredevil events for the usual gate admission price.

Country Club Golf Winners

An alternate shot event was held on the golf course of the Dixon Country Club Friday night, with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Krahenbuhl scoring a 35.4 to take first.

In second place were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bangston, with a 36.0, while third went to Mr. and Mrs. Neil Plasters, 36.6.

Kids Still Romp on Baltimore Streets Where Babe Ruth Lived and Played

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

BALTIMORE — On the cobblestone street that Babe Ruth probably played on 65 years ago or so, a gloveless kid in violet shirt and slacks and black gym shoes wound up the way they do in the big leagues and pitched a rubber ball to a friend, down on one knee and with a fencer's mitt.

This was in southwest Baltimore around the corner from 216 Emory Street, the birthplace of Babe Ruth. A worldwide campaign to restore the building and make it a shrine is in its second year. It was hoped that the three-story, red brick row house would open this summer as part of professional baseball's 100th anniversary.

Though contributions have come from nearly every county in every state and from as far away as Japan, Australia, Italy, Germany, England and France, the Babe Ruth shrine committee is still about $80,000 short of its goal.

The new target date is Feb. 6, 1970. Ruth, who died in 1948, would have been 75 on Feb. 6.

Stop to Talk
Those two youngsters interrupted their game of catch to talk with a passerby interested in Babe Ruth.

"Who did he play for?" the man asked.

"The Lions Club," replied the pitcher.

"The who? The what? What kinda dope are you?" snapped the catcher. "Don't you know what team Babe Ruth was on?"

The pitcher was terribly embarrassed. "The Yanks," he said. "Gee, I thought you said what team do we play for."

The catcher knew even more. "Babe Ruth played for the Catholic Church over on Washington Boulevard, too. He was an orphan boy and he was on the team at, uh, St. Mary's Reformatory. I think they tore it down now."

The passerby asked if either of the boys was as good a slugger as Babe Ruth. In a burst of humility, each boy shot up an arm. The pitcher playfully slapped at the catcher. "Whaddya raisin' your hand for?" he said, smiling.

A lock is on the wooden door entrance.

Paul Walsh, secretary of the shrine committee, said that over $20,000, mostly in $1 contributions, has been received. Contributions are sent to: Batter's Box 21203, Baltimore, Md. and for $1 or more, a Babe Ruth commemorative coin is sent to the contributor.

To hasten the money flow, a Babe Ruth 714 Home Run Club has been instituted. Businesses and individuals which contribute $100 or more will "buy" one of Ruth's career homers and the name will be inscribed on a plaque in the house.

Pitcher Also
Ruth might have approved, but a 93-victory club would surely have been at least as satisfactory. Ruth began his major league career as a pitcher and won 93 games.

"Babe always loved to talk about his pitching," Mrs. George Herman Ruth said recently.

"Once he had a one-run lead against Detroit in the bottom of the ninth inning and the bases were loaded. The next three batters were Ty Cobb, Sam Crawford and Bobby Veach. He struck them out on 10 pitches. Babe said that was his greatest thrill in baseball."

Babe Ruth's baseball days started on the cobblestone streets in southwest Baltimore.

Kids still pitch there, with a rubber ball, some 65 years later.
